Front Cover—This new species of round-eared sengi from northwestern Namibia occurs only on the rust-colored gravel and cobble-strewn plains on the lower mountain slopes of the Etendeka volcanic formation. The new species described by Dumbacher et al. (pages 443-454) only weighs 25-30 grams, is found at low densities, and is endemic to Namibia.

The ASM is at the forefront in education concerning appropriate standards for research with wild animals. ASM Animal Care and Use Committee members speak on these topics at meetings of organization such as Public Responsibility in Medicine and Research (PRIM&R) and Scientists Center for Animal Welfare (SCAW) as well as in webinars sponsored by the NIH Office of Laboratory Animal Welfare (http://grants.nih.gov/grants/olaw/educational_resources.htm). Committee members have helped develop a wildlife-specific training course for the Collaborative Institutional Training Initiative (CITIprogram.org), a wildlife-specific IACUC protocol form, and other resources geared toward work with wild animals. To learn more about how the ASM ACUC is working for you, go to the "Whats New" tab on the ASM home page.
